About Meredith

Having lived in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, California, and across major Australian cities--including Sydney, Brisbane and Perth, Meredith has a unique blend of international and local residential experiences. Her experiences in such varied locations serve as the foundation of her expertise in assisting with relocations. Add to that the fact that she loves meeting new people, and you have a relocation consultant who not only provides practical knowledge but also a genuine enthusiasm for connecting with her clients.

For those moving to Melbourne, Meredith's insider tip is to choose a footy team especially if they have children who are attending school. "For kids it will make fitting into a new school and making friends a little easier in this sport crazy town," she explains. "I also advise them--once they start looking for properties--to firstly get an idea of what they get for their budget. Also to decide what they will compromise on because, more often than not, they will have to when choosing a property."

Other local hacks from her include tapping into the local council and the city's website to see what is on offer in the area.
